City Council Pushes Ahead on Housing

The City Council voted Monday night to proceed with plans for a low rent housing project for the elderly in Pilot Point.

The city last year applied for a Department of Housing and Urban Development grant for construction of low rent housing in the city, but residents of Pilot Point turned the proposal down in a referendum vote.

HUD representatives indicate that Pilot Point will be eligible for 36 to 50 units.

The housing units will be

FIREMEN ANSWER NINE ALARMS IN MARCH

Pilot Point firemen answered nine alarms during the month of March, but none of the fires was an insurance loss.

One fire was in Cooke County, while two were within the city limits of Pilot Point.

Included in the fires, however, was a barn owned by H. E. Hunt. Another small building burned on the Joe Wilson farm.

Most of the others were grass fires.

PEMBERTON IS ELECTED BOARD PRESIDENT

Harold Pemberton was elected president of the Pilot Point Independent School District Board of Trustees in a meeting here Tuesday night.

Albert Duesman, who had been serving as president, declined another term of office.

Other officers elected at the meeting were Weldon Price, vice president, and David Strittmatter, secretary.

Gordon Smith, an architect from Fort Worth, presented five plans for a new school building and three of these were eliminated by the board.

This leaves the district with two working sets of plans for a new high school building, which will be constructed five blocks south of the present high school at the end of Harrison St.

County Commissioner Chester Sparks moved equipment onto the site Wednesday to begin cutting roads through the area.

Funds for construction of the new school were approved in a $650,000 bond issue last year. The district also plans to remodel the present high school building for use as an elementary school.

About 10 Pilot Point residents turned out for the Monday night meeting, which was held at Pilot Point High School.

In final action, the board agreed to advertise for bids on the J. Earl Selz property on N. Washington St. The board advertised for bids once before, but received none.

The plot contains about 44 acres of land, which was donated to the school by the late J. Earl Selz for construction of a new high school plant.

included on the tax roles and a housing board will oversee the taxation matters for the project.

Rent for the units would probably be set at 20 per cent of the accepted applicants income and would include all utilities except telephone and air conditioning.

The lights would be located at the intersection of Highway 377 and Farm Road 455.

The council also canvassed results of the recent city election and declared Mrs. Clinton Seal and George Hall elected.

Mrs. Seal is the first woman ever elected to the Pilot Point City Council.

The two councilmen were sworn into office and Finley Miller, retiring councilman, was awarded a plaque for his service to the city.

Hilz said the city's cleanup campaign is drawing to a close. The entire month of March was designated as cleanup month in the city. The City Sanitation Department has been running extra pickups to haul away trash.

Also discussed during the Monday night meeting was the annual summer black top project for city streets.

Almost Record Vote In School Election

Residents of the Pilot Point Independent School District turned out in almost record numbers Saturday to name four members of the School Board.

In heavy balloting, all four incumbents were re-elected to terms on the board.

They are Albert Duesman, Harold Pemberton, Gene Sitzes and David Strittmatter.

More than 700 persons cast ballots in the election, one of the heaviest in a number of years. Nine persons sought the four positions.

Duesman and Pemberton were re-elected for three-year terms of office, while Sitzes and Strittmatter were elected to two-year unexpired terms.

Both Sitzes and Strittmatter were serving on the board by appointment.

Sitzes led the balloting with 457 votes with Strittmatter close behind at 433. Pemberton was re-elected with 412 votes and Duesman polled 398.

C.W. Morrow, a former member of the board, received 356 votes, W.D. Brown 337, William E. Hilz 335, Alvin Evans 301 and Mrs. Jessie Nall 30.

Hilz and Evans opposed Sitzes and Strittmatter for the two-year term, while Morrow, Brown and Mrs. Nall sought the three-year terms.

In city balloting, George Hall and Mrs. Clinton Seal were elected to seats on the City Council. Hall was the incumbent in the race.

Mrs. Seal won the seat with a narrow four-vote lead over Charles E. Kerr. She received 204 votes while Kerr received 200. Hall was re-elected with 309 votes.

CITY PUMPS 4 MILLION GALLONS WATER

Pilot Point residents used 4,050,000 gallons of water during the month of March.

City Superintendent Nealous Cockrell said the maximum usage on any one day was 170, toning.

After a period of 40 years, the low rent houses would become the property of the City of Pilot Point.

Mayor George Hilz said the city had requested two additional traffic lights from the Texas Highway Department.

The lights would be located at the intersection of Highway 377 and Farm Road 455.

The council also canvassed results of the recent city election and declared Mrs. Clinton Seal and George Hall elected.

Mrs. Seal is the first woman ever elected to the Pilot Point City Council.

The two councilmen were sworn into office and Finley Miller, retiring councilman, was awarded a plaque for his service to the city.
